Looking at the News with Col. Hugh Clark

WHAT was featured as a "perfect murder" has ended in the murderer committing suicide to escape hanging. Daily newspapers and fiction writers may as well make up their minds that in this imperfect world perfection is not to be attained even in murder.

In a daily paper a correspondent inquires why so many clergymen preach revolution, bloodless or otherwise. There are not many who do. There are indeed very few, but these few are noisy and in times like these they are not without influence. Most clergymen remember that revolutions such as took place in France and Russia were subversive of religion and destructive of churches. No one can guarantee that a revolution will be bloodless. In France and Russia, the mob did not stop at the blood of aristocrats and the bourgeoisie. It took the blood of revolutionary leaders as well, or drove them into exile.

"The Buy British" campaign in the old country is censured by a temperance organization there because it is being used to encourage the drinking of spirits distilled in that country. "Imbibe British" might be the slogan for that feature of the campaign.

The "hunger marcher" cursed his luck. In having to trudge so very far, he was marching in an old Ford truck instead of a classy motor car.

Wilfrid Funk started something when he quoted these words as the most beautiful in the English language: dawn, hush, lullaby, murmuring, tranquil, mist, chimes, harmony, golden and melody. We don't quarrel with any of them except hush. But equally beautiful words could be selected from names of plants and flowers, as thyme, violet, honeysuckle. Or of birds as mavis, linnet, goldfinch, pheasant, nightingale. Or of water features as rill, rivulet, stream, cascade. But perhaps some of the beauty of the thing itself is reflected in the name.—Mr. J. V. McAree compiles a list of ugly words in which he includes the word "ugly" and the firm name of Funk & Wagnalls.

Mr. E. W. Beatty's suggestion of joint management of railways is receiving unlooked for support from the daily press which for many years was almost unanimously against that or anything else except the policy that prevailed of cutting throats, extending lines, constructing unneeded terminals, de-luxing services and piling up liabilities.

In some places, municipal councilors and officials grafted on relief supplies. There seems to be a disposition in some quarters to regard it as quite all right to do so, because most of the funds come from "the government." A Canadian historian traced the origin of this disposition to an ancient regime when the people lived largely on the bounty of the King.

Elks Win First Shutout Game From Macleod

Whitewash Jubilee City Team in Monday's Game

Winning their first shut-out game of the season the Vulcan Elks defeated Macleod four to nil in a Foot-hill's league game played on the latter's ice on Monday evening. Reports state the game being very fast with the Elks having the edge of the play throughout the three sessions, and Love starring in the net.

Scoring in the game recorded in this manner, with Vulcan sharing the largest number of trips to the cooler.

The face-off had gone 15 minutes when Ferguson scored the first goal for Vulcan. A. Marshall and A. Graham were sent to the cooler.

The second had gone 10 minutes when Bob Marshall, unassisted, scored the second and one minute later Norton scored the third goal. Kaiser was the only visitor to the pen in this period.

The third period was within two minutes of the final gong when Laroche put in the fourth and last goal. Norton was penalized twice in this period and Monkman once.

Vulcan had their usual line-up.

Note on the Game

The Vulcanites were deeply surprised when the Macleod mascot claimed parentage of local origin. "The world is full of mysteries," says one of the squad.

INTERESTING TO NOTE

There has been keen rivalry between Vulcan and High River in hockey contests for many years and it is interesting to note that in six games played with the Fliers, this season, they have not once defeated the local Elks. Three games won by a one goal margin and three tie games were played. The most interesting games played this season were with the Fliers, from the spectators' point of view. All contests were keen and evenly matched.

GIRLS ENTERTAIN MOTHERS

Proving excellent hostesses on Saturday evening the girls of the Vulcan C.G.I.T. group entertained their mothers in the United Church Sunday school room, a high light of the occasion being the presence of Miss W. Gilhooly, provincial secretary of the Girls' Work Board. Miss Gilhooly addressed the gathering and stressed the co-operation of the mothers and the church in the building up of the all-round life of 'teen aged girls. A pleasing program was presented by different members of the group with a variety of songs, music and readings. Dainty refreshments were served by the girls and the pleasant social hour was enjoyed by all.

SUB ZERO WEATHER

After passing through one of the mildest months of January weather the first week of February has proved exceptionally cold in the Vulcan district with the thermometer hitting sub-zero temperatures, hovering from 15 to 30 below. Sunday the mercury started to decline and since that time the weather has been severe with a strong prevailing north wind blowing.

New Square Draw Play Started at Curling Club

On Wednesday evening of last week new interest in the curling circles was given when play opened in a new square draw. Since that time ice conditions have been excellent, with the exception of Saturday, and all three sheets of ice have been utilized.

Bonspiel interest has been keen during the past few weeks and the last entry was made when a rink skipped by Colin Melnis, supported by Jack Marshall, Sam Finland, and Jim Marshall played at the Okotoks one-day 'spiel. In the first game they defeated the famous Coutt's rink of Calgary, but lost in a close encounter with Anderson of Blackie in the second. They speak highly of the royal entertainment given by the Okotoks Club.

No entry was made by the local club in the Lethbridge bonspiel now in progress.

VULCAN BEATS HIGH RIVER IN PLAY OFF

(From the High River Times)

With the game hanging in doubt to the last minute, Vulcan succeeded in taking the winning goal, with a score of 4 to 3, in the engagement at High River on Saturday evening. This was the second game of the first round in the intermediate play-offs, the first game at Vulcan on Thursday evening ending a 2-2 tie. The one goal lead carries Vulcan into the second round to meet with Gleichen, while High River drops from the play-offs.

One of the biggest features of the Saturday night contest was the crowd, the most enthusiastic and inspiring crowd which the local team has been favored with, in its own town this season. There were 800 fans, including a great contingent from Vulcan and the country, and approximately 800 throats were badly strained before the final gong rang down the curtain.

Although ice conditions affected the smoothness of the play, the game was exciting from the faceoff, with tension increasing throughout every period. Both teams hit a great pace, and the local boys showed the very creditable results of Kwasney's short term of coaching.

Although the final count goes down as 4-3, there is a very strong conviction in the minds of fans that it was actually a 4-4 score, the High River team at one time clipping the puck into the goal in a lightning shot which was in and out before officials checked it. However the Vulcanites go forward to the second round with the good will and best wishes of their High River opponents.

The first period was scoreless, and in this frame Mainland and Love turned off shots with spectacular skill. Both goalies had good support. Vulcan got away at a furious pace in the early stages of the second period, running in three counts. In the first ten minutes, Thomas scored at three minutes; B. Marshall sank home the rubber on Ferguson's pass at seven minutes, and Norton made it three, a minute later. Vulcan fans were on their toes, while the local supporters prepared to dig themselves in for the balance of the game.

However, High River from then on launched out into aggressive play and during the rest of the game took the heavy share of attack with the bulk of action being behind the visitor's blue line. At 14 minutes in the second period Murray succeeded in getting High River's first count, followed two minutes later by Malmberg whose backhand shot from the blue line caught Love unprepared.

Entering the third period at a fast clip, the local lines pressed the attack. And at 11 minutes, Malmberg scored again with a nice assist from (Continued on the Back Page)

McLaggan. The six nominations made on Monday last were R. L. Elves, John Wolfe, L. F. Dawson, Sigmond Wegh, J. D. McLaggan and Paul Wittcock. W. E. Butchart and E. King were nominated to contest the mayoralty position in civic council created by the expired term of Mayor Butchart.

Retiring from the school board were C. Hoskyn, W. L. Seaman and Mrs. R. Gold, necessitating nominations to fill the vacated positions. Fred Graham, Pete McArdle and W. L. Seaman were nominated and elected by acclamation for this school board term.

Wm. Peterson will again be the Vulcan representative on the municipal hospital board, the election being by acclamation.

Don't forget the voting day. This coming Monday, February 13th.

Berrywater U. F. W. A.

The U.F.W.A. held a well attended meeting at the home of Mrs. Mensinger in Vulcan on Friday, Jan. 27, Mrs. Clifford Love presiding. After the usual routine business and correspondence had been dealt with, Mrs. Rhys Herdman gave an interesting report of the recent Convention held in Calgary, and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded her. During the business session, arrangements were suggested and arranged to put on a play and entertainment in the near future in aid of the Bow River constituency fund, and to continue the bridge parties organized at the home of Mrs. H. Douglass on January 11th, the next three to be held on successive Wednesdays at the homes of Mrs. Love, Mrs. Oldfield and Mrs. Noble. A committee was elected to take charge of a collection of home canning to be raffled for at the last card party of the season, in aid of the treasury. Mrs. Herdman was the lucky prize winner in a drawing contest arranged by Mrs. Douglass and the hostess. At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Mensinger's little daughters presented Mrs. H. Houlton a recent bride, with a prettily decorated basket of useful and dainty gifts. The shower was a surprise to Mrs. Houlton, who thanked the donors, including members, visitors and absent friends, in a happy little speech. All were pleased to welcome Mrs. Douglass, after her recent illness. The afternoon closed with a dainty lunch served by the hostess and helpers. The next meeting to be at Mrs. F. Mensinger's on Feb. 15th when a good attendance of members is requested.

CHARLES CLARK, Proprietor

CATTLE-OIL BARTER

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett is giving a statement of the proposed cattle deal with Russia, presents it in a less glamorous light than many Westerners have viewed it.

He pointed out first, that there is nothing to prevent Russia selling to Canada while her purchases here are only subject to her own export regulations. Continuing in relation to the cattle-oil trade, he said that G. Serkau, a lawyer of Winnipeg, representing a Western syndicate, had approached the government after a trip to Russia, affirming a willingness by the Soviet people to buy 100,000 head of Canadian cattle in exchange for Russian anthracite, lubricating oil and coal oil. There had, however, been no communication from the Soviet government to show that it sanctioned the proposed arrangement.

The Canadian government was asked to finance the scheme up to four million dollars, at this end, by a guarantee of Soviet bonds, with the further provision that if Russia should fall down at their end or break the contract the government here should guarantee fully to protect the syndicate.

The whole purpose of the plan, Mr. Bennett said, was a promotion for profit—a cent a pound commission on every head of cattle purchased, but with the whole deal contingent upon the extensive public financing aforementioned.

"I think this house will agree," said Mr. Bennett, "that no Canadian government would consider seriously a proposal to provide credit facilities for a syndicate of vendors, and at the same time guarantee the alleged purchasers, the Soviet government would discharge its obligations to the vendors."

"It should be observed," the prime minister continued, reading from the Serkau letter, "that the nature of this transaction is largely in the interests of the livestock industry, the profits to myself and my associates, being merely a brokerage commission." This "commission" Mr. Bennett said, would have amounted to between 20 and 30 per cent.

ASTOUNDING

The following editorial written for the Montreal Witness by Dr. Ritchie, is worth reading by all investors.

Recently, in one of his public speeches, Mr. Taschereau made the startling, indeed, the astounding statement that the Power, Paper and Pulp Companies of Eastern Canada with an original capital of $30,000,000, had within a few years enlarged and financed themselves into a capital of $714,000,000. The mere statement takes one's breath away.

"Mr. Taschereau added that in his judgment the value of that $714,000,000 was today not more than $25,000,000. What a bubble, deceiving the unsuspecting and even the careful investor, must have burst there! What poverty and misery it has spread, and must continue to spread among those who gave their hard-won savings to build up what they were assured was an honest industry, directed by boards of reputable men! Why then are these not called on for reasonable and legal explanations?

True, Mr. Taschereau made threats in regard to what his Government would do if these companies did not take action to put their houses in order. Who leased the forests? Who continued to lease them in spite of plain warnings? Who insisted on works being erected? Who made it a condition of leasing that machinery should be set a-going? Who advertised the sale of "power" to any ready to start a company? In short, who "boomed" the power and pulp and paper business until this calamity has befallen the province? Was it not Mr. Taschereau and his Government? "Is it not the business of Governments to control speculative companies and to protect the public from their spoils?"

"And where have the millions gone? Most of them had some value when gathered. Lost are they? It is a wintry word. It is also a glib word, with a shrug of the shoulders too easily spoken, especially by rogues. Have not many of these millions simply disappeared into pockets? Have governments no responsibility for balance sheets?"

"But what of the future? It is clear that the present law dealing with high finance might guide and protect the trade of a primitive village, but that it is altogether useless for a complex social order and the labyrinthine transactions and speculations of our modern day. These have become the happy hunting grounds of rogues, and there is seemingly no law to check their depredations.

"And what about the despoiled public? How long is it to grind its teeth in silence?"

DEBATING POPULAR

A couple of weeks ago, The "V" gave considerable space to a debate conducted by the Young People's Society of Aldersyde. This debate resolved that, if women had been in parliamentary control, the present financial depression might have been averted. It was a subject offering opportunity for humor and argument, and was cleverly handled both by negative and affirmative. This fact was commented on by many local readers.

But a much more signal honor was conferred on these young people, when their debate was made the subject of editorial comment in the Lethbridge Herald. The quick eyes of the Herald editorial writer, were caught by the story and his remarks gave quite unexpected publicity to the Aldersyde debaters.

After summing up the arguments for and against, the Herald concluded:

"The women, as we have revealed, won the debate, and we are not surprised. Even if no other consideration were given in deciding the merits of the arguments than the dilemma the world is in at the present moment, the men had a poor chance. Man is responsible; women at least could not have done worse. Solutions of all sorts have been offered for our ills. Is not the moment ripe for putting the females on the job?"

So it is not unreasonable to suppose that that debate in which the young men and women of Aldersyde engaged, merely to sharpen their wits, give themselves platform experience and a brisk evening, has been the occasion of many an argument all over Southern Alberta. They have roused more interest than they ever anticipated.

As a matter of fact, debates of a similar interesting nature are being conducted by young people's groups in every town and every community. The debating leagues have multiplied amazingly, and of all forms of recreational or educational activity, none is more worthwhile. The study involved in preparing a debate, the experience gained by platform argument are of inestimable value to the participants, and the interest taken by "fans" is evidence of bright alert minds. The fact that this type of recreation has become so popular amongst the young people, speaks well for future leadership and intelligence.

BERRYWATER NEWS

On Saturday, Jan. 28th, a joint meeting of the U.F.A. and U.F.W.A. was held in Berrywater school. There was a fair attendance with Mr. Love presiding in the absence of the newly elected secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Sinclair. Mr. Haslam occupied his old position for the meeting. Several items of interest to both locals were discussed and Mrs. Herdman, Mrs. Oldfield and Mr. Love were elected to act as committee for the proposed entertainment and dance. Mr. D. B. Sims gave a splendid report of the recent convention. He attended every session and gave a detailed and concise report on the many activities which go towards a successful farmers' convention, and answered many questions concerning the resolutions put before the very well attended 25th annual convention. At the conclusion Mr. Sims was accorded a hearty vote of thanks. During the meeting the directors were requested to get in touch with neighboring locals and arrange a debate or other form of mutual interest to take place as soon as possible.

SELFISHNESS AND GREED

The desire for money, power, prestige, is not common to any one class. The big capitalists possess it, but none of us are exempt. In a report of the Federal Councils of churches, it reads: "The desire for money, power, prestige, translate it into what you will, is the major cause of man's economic ills and spiritual woe. It is selfishness that has brought Europe to the edge of the gutter and rendered millions in America helpless in the midst of plenty. It is selfishness that has brought the whole world to the verge of a spiritual debacle."

In this connection the editor of the Cardston News adds: "Thinking men all over the country are calling attention to the need of a spiritual awakening. From the pulpit, in the magazines, over the radio, from all thinking leaders comes the message: 'Return to righteousness'."

MAYVIEW NEWS

The tenth anniversary banquet was held at Mayview on Jan. 13. The ex-members, the members and their families were present.

The tables were decorated with flowers and a large birthday cake. After the candles had been lighted the bride of the season was asked to cut the cake. Following this procedure, Mr. Sinclair, the organizer, and several others were called on for a speech. The floor was then cleared for dancing which lasted until the wee hours of the morning. The music was supplied by Miss Swanson, Orlo Doane and D. Burr.

The following Monday night, Jan. 16, the regular U.F.A. meeting was held at the home of Mr. D. Burr. After the business had been attended to, a dainty lunch was then served by the hostess, after which we were favoured by songs from Mrs. Burr and several of those present. These caused many laughs.

The last U.F.A. meeting was held at the home of Mr. Hunter. It was decided to entertain in the near future. After the meeting adjourned, lunch was served by the hostess.

The next card party will be held at Mayview on February 6. Everybody welcome.

TO THE ELECTORS:

OF THE TOWN OF VULCAN

Having served the ratepayers of Vulcan as a member of the town council for the past two years, I have decided to be a candidate for the office of Mayor and solicit your support on my record only.

During the past two years, under adverse conditions the town council succeeded in largely reducing our indebtedness to bank, namely, from $39,306.33 to $17,960.52, as well as meeting all debenture payments. Every economy consistent with town needs has been practiced and an effort to collect delinquent taxes was made.

For the information of all concerned I wish to go on record as favoring a continuance of these policies. If elected I will do all in my power to secure a reduction in the municipal tax mill rate as soon as possible.

I favor a further reduction in the town and rural school mill rate, proportionate to the savings effected by the school board.

On this platform I appeal for the support of all ratepayers who desire an efficient, businesslike administration of the town's affairs.

ERRETT KING.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Cost of operating Blairmore schools for last year was $27,709.14 or $65.80 per pupil.

Calgary city council is considering the possibility of issuing scrip up to about $662,000.

Collections of taxes in Pincher Creek is down 20 per cent. School expenditures was $16,616.

The finances of the city of Drumheller is reported to be in excellent shape. The sum of $100,000 was collected for taxes in 1932.

Drumheller's civic finances are in the healthiest condition for years. Of the tax arrears there has been much better collection than in 1931.

Clarence Loughheed eldest son of the late Senator Loughheed and Mrs. Loughheed, was found dead in his bed at a local hotel in Calgary.

Vulcan school board has reduced expenditures by approximately $8,500 in the past 4 years. The saving in cash this year has been $4,503.68.

Twenty-one penalties were handed out before Blairmore Bearcats beat Coleman Canadians. There were two fist fights and police were called in.

E. J. Garland, M.P., is quoted as saying in Toronto that he had decided to withdraw his support for currency inflation, because he said it was not a fundamental remedy and would not save the situation.

The provincial government will this spring commence distribution of 3,000,000 caragana seedlings to school districts, municipalities and to individuals. They will be shipped in packages of 50 or 100 on application, the only expense being the cost of carrying charges from Edmonton.

Looking at the News

A medical officer says the physical condition of many people is much better since necessity compelled them to go easy on their eating and drinking. It's health to be poor!

An army officer asks that the pension board be dismissed because it turned down five applications which he thinks should have been accepted. Without knowing anything about the cases we say the board was right. It is composed of ex-service men disposed to give all applicants the benefit of doubt. It is easier to grant pensions than to refuse them. The board gets no plaudits for rejections—only abuse. The pensions bill is growing every year and the time is coming when the board and the tribunals are going to be censured not for a few pensions refused but for many pensions granted.

With the intention of observing a birthday celebration, a Drumheller landlady made all preparation for the event, and on the table were two bottles of whiskey. Two liquor enforcement officials made their entrance and glibly walked into the room and abruptly confiscated the whiskey and broke up the happy gathering. A fine of $200 was imposed.

HE DOES NOT LIKE
BRIDGE PLAYERS

Sir:—I am tired of bridge. In fact, I am heartily sick and fed up with bridge, and not only with the so-called game, but with the so-called ladies and gentlemen who engage in such an aimless pastime.

When I get up in the morning my wife goes to great lengths to describe the people with whom she played bridge the night before. A friend of mine, at least he was a friend until yesterday, and if he ever finds out who wrote this letter will probably never speak to me again, talks bridge on the street car. My conferees at the office babble incessantly of bridge, and the majority of my evenings are spent avoiding pitfalls, in which otherwise artless people endeavor to get me to make up a foursome.

I always felt sorry for the increasing number of people whose minds were more or less of a vacuum until some well-meaning person with a grudge against the human race invented bridge. Now, with the mania for contract pervading our effete civilization I realize that most of the people I know are morons incapable of amusing themselves in any other way. They take themselves seriously. Why, I have never been able to fathom, when there are so many things that have to be taken seriously.

It is always possible to tell a bridge lunatic, for whom, by the way, special institutions with glass walls should be erected so that sane people could watch the inmates in the throes of their agony. He, or she, sits with a completely blank expression when the discussion is on worthwhile things until the magic password of bridge is uttered. As yet, I have never met a really intelligent person who played bridge. I never hope to, either. My idea of hell would be a huge amphitheatre where several hundreds of insane people I know play bridge until the crack of doom.

New Well at Extreme South of Valley Looks Good for Area

Hurling 5,400 feet of water out of the hole, the Freehold-Marjon well in the extreme south of Turner Valley came in with a strong gas flow at a depth of only 37 feet in the limestone Monday.

The strike is of special importance in that the well is located one-half south of the Merland well, which has hitherto been taken as marking the extreme productive edge of Turner Valley.

According to oil men, the new well is a strong argument in support of the contention that the gas reserves of the valley are much higher than those estimated by geologists in that the southernmost limit of the structure is more speculative now than ever before.

Efforts will be made to bring the well under control and drill further down into the porous band of the limestone. The strike of a heavy gas flow at present shallow depth was altogether unexpected, and the prospects for a very large producer are considered excellent.

Total depth of the well is 5,431 feet.

Mayor Davison and Dr. Lincoln are providing wordy battles for the Calgary city council. Spectators derive great entertainment from the engagement.
